STOLEN AUTO IS FOUND IN OGDEN

MAKING PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGE

Machine Believed to Have Been Used by Robbers Located Here

Recovery of an automobile, stolen from Arthur Sycamore, of Garland by robbers who entered the Golden Rule store last Thursday night, looking it of merchandise valued at $3000, was effected yesterday by Ogden police. The car was found in the "jungle" along the Weber river, where it had been abandoned.

Arthur Sycamore, owner of the car, and Sam Metz, employee of the Golden Rule store, arrived in Ogden to start a local investigation.

Good, such as is used to tie a paper-covered blanket, and a quantity of wrapping paper were found in the abandoned automobile.

Police are scouring the city in an effort to find the robbers.

Committee Expected to Appear Before Commission Tonight to Discuss Project

Plans and specifications for a new concrete bridge over the Ogden river on North Washington avenue have been prepared during the past six months by city officials, are now complete and the coming bond election will decide whether or not the plan will become a reality, according to an announcement made this morning by Mayor Frank Francis and Chris Flegare, commissioner.

The plans and specifications will be outlined by the commissioners to a committee which has been named in the Times and Herald. The committee will probably appear before the commission tonight.

The bridge idea has been under consideration by the city for many months, it was said today, and the commissioners favor its erection. However, until the bond election and until funds are provided, no definite action can be taken, Mayor Francis said.

The new structure, if constructed, will be of concrete with two drive-ways, Mr. Flegare said. With the new bridge in place, the present iron structure will be placed across the river at Wall avenue.

Says Husband Cruel; Sues for Divorce

Maria P. Rosevear of Ogden has filed suit for divorce in the district court charging her husband, Stanley Rosevear, with cruelty and failure to provide.

Mrs. Rosevear sets forth in her complaint that her husband has used vile language about the house in the presence of her three children and has accused her of associations with other men. During the past two years, she asserts, he has failed to provide the family with the common necessities of life.

Mrs. Rosevear asks the court for divorce, the custody of the three minor children and alimony. The couple was married in Ogden, September 12, 1908.

Shop Man Stripped by Thugs and Robbed

Knocked unconscious at 9 o'clock Saturday night by two thugs, Stanley Huband, an employee of the Southern Pacific shops, was robbed of $2 in silver, a small watch, his coat and his trousers, according to a report he made at the police station early yesterday morning.

Huband said he was returning home from his work at the S. P. roundhouse. He had passed through the second gate, at the foot of the Twenty-third street, when two men, a short one and a tall one, approached. The coat in a hand, he was struck over the head with a blunt instrument, and knocked unconscious. When he recovered, he found that the thieves had fled his watch, his change and his clothes.

Employees from the roundhouse assisted him to his home, 247 Twentieth street.

CONTINUOUS DANCING

A program of continuous dancing will be offered at the Bertram Wednesday night by the Orpheum theatre orchestra.

Under the leadership of J. Albert Erickson the Orpheum orchestra will alternate playing for the dancing with the Lillian Thatcher orchestra. A snappy series of latest dance hits will be played.

THE S. R. O. SIGN WAS DISPLAYED AT ALHAMBRA

IF THIS CUBAN CHAP GETS WOMAN'S EAR WHAT'LL BE OUTCOME?

BY O. Q. MILLAR.

The other day a dusky young man, Senor Frank Quesada, scion of a wealthy Cuban house, arrived in the United States in search of a full grown, well behaved girl. Press dispatches told us that the Cuban's father was willing to part with $10,000 (U. S.) for a bride who would meet the requirements.

There have been a few attracted to the theatre throughout the country, packed the spacious Hudson avenue, packed the palace at the first show last evening. The seven reels of gripping excitement, laughter and then a silence of suspense, is without question the strongest bill that has been presented this year in Ogden. The North wood stories always carry a tense interest and prove a magnet for big business. The photography is par excellence, the rugged country of water and rocks and hills, wild and treacherous, give an atmosphere that always pleases. The acting, the entire cast is wonderful, and the dependable Walthal does marvelous work as the ever faithful to his trust and confidential relationship even though his own brother's life is at stake, his enduring faith is rewarded with a glorious triumph. The picture will continue today, tomorrow and Wednesday. Don't miss the big attraction at the Alhambra.

Madison Leads Grade School Enrollment

More than 7000 students are being enrolled in the city schools and the Ogden High school, according to Supt. W. Carl Hopkins, the largest in the city's history.

At the Ogden High school, the registration is better than ever before, 951 students being enrolled at the institution. The Madison school is second in the list, having 552 students enrolled, while the Mount Fort school is a close third, with 544 students.

The other schools have the following enrolled: Central Junior, 573; Farr, 431; Des, 231; Grant, 401; Lewis, 727; Washington, 494; Pioneer, 633; Quincy, 274; Five Points, 338 and West Ogden, 222. The total registration for the entire city school system is 11,717.

STURGIS TO BE BURIED IN OGDEN

Youth Found Dead in Lonely Cabin Near Big Piney, Wyoming

Relatives of Perry Sturgis, who shot himself through the temple with a .25 calibre revolver while working on the ranch of Harold Munn, near Big Piney, have been located in Salt Lake and they have asked that his body be brought to Ogden for burial. The boy was 16 years of age, and he had resided here before going to Wyoming.

Mrs. Maria Ross 528 Somersby street, Salt Lake, and George and William Ross, also residents of Salt Lake are relatives of the youth.

The shooting took place October 9, in a lonely cabin about one-quarter of a mile from the Munn ranch house. Little was known of the lad at the time of his death and efforts were made last week to locate his relatives in Ogden and Salt Lake. Failing to locate the boy's relatives, the body was buried on the ranch, near Halfway.

The night before the tragedy there was said to have been a discussion in the bunkhouse on the subject of "brass" and during this young Sturgis made the statement that he was not the engineer of the train, carload, and started his engine and caught the young man between the cars, causing serious injuries. It is asserted that as a result of his injuries, Sturgis is incapable of getting employment.

The complaint further sets forth that following his accident the young man was compelled to remain in the hospital for thirty-four days and, although now discharged, he is suffering from permanent internal injuries.

Damages of $25,000 together with attorney fees and court costs are asked. Marionaux and Beck are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Utah Idaho Central Sued for $25,000

In an amended complaint filed in the district court by Thomas H. Hines, through his guardian, W. M. Ellis, asks that damages of $25,000 be awarded him against the Utah-Idaho Central.

The claim sets forth that on April 16, 1920, Hines, who is 29 years of age, was injured while coupling cars at Smithfield. It is alleged that the engineer of the train, carelessly started his engine and caught the young man between the cars, causing serious injuries. It is asserted that as a result of his injuries, Hines is incapable of getting employment.

The complaint further sets forth that following his accident the young man was compelled to remain in the hospital for thirty-four days and, although now discharged, he is suffering from permanent internal injuries.

STUBBORN PATRONS KEEP SCHOOLHOUSE CLOSED UP TIGHT

WEST LIBERTY, Ia., Oct. 17.—The consolidated school building, model of perfection when built two years ago to accommodate the centralization of the four South Prairie school districts, will remain uncaptured again this term, as it has been throughout all the years of its existence, according to members of the local school board. When built, the consolidated plan was bitterly opposed by some voters in the various districts, who obtained injunction proceedings preventing its use and the question has ever since been in litigation. It was thought that opposition had become a dead issue and plans were under way to carry out the original idea, but the same bitter antagonism again asserted itself and postponed the impending two-story brick structure seems destined to remain an empty monument to the will of those it was designed to benefit.

Sturgis is believed to have been dependent. He retired to the ranch house alone. He was found at noon the following day with the bullet hole through his head. Death is believed to have been instantaneous. The body will arrive here for burial sometime this week, it is said.
